

I am writing to question the wisdom of allowing too many radio stations in the Los Angeles area to merge. Recently the spanish radio stations 97.5 and 107.1 have merged. Already 97.5 and 103.1 were the same station so we've got 3 places on the dial with the same message. Whenever you allow such mergers, you remove competitive voices from the public forum. Soon there will be only superstations and we will be left with only the voice of big business. This is a dangerous situation. It must be stopped. You have the power to do this.

Thank you for your attention to my opinion.
